Tavern Leafe for Sale.

THE subscriber being about to remove o the Indian Queen Tavern, in Baltimore, cers for sale, on advantageous terms, the least of the House he now occupies, having eight years, from the first of December next, o run; which for convenience, it is believe, is excelled by none in the United State, and from the proximity to the seat of govern ment, and the direct communication which will be opened between the city and Alexandria by the bridge across the Potomac and the Turopike Road, bids fair to become one of the best stands for business in the comtry, as the distance to the Capitol over the bridge will be only about 7 miles. With the Lease will be sold, if wanted, the whole of the FURNITURE, as it now stands, together sid the funds of the Charitable Marine So- with a large stock of the corner of Cameron and Pitt-streets, adjoining the stables, attached to the House, (which renders it particularly commodious, as by that means the property fronts on three streets) which will be sold in fee simple, or leased for the remainder of the time.

A handsome LOT of GROUND, in the centre of the square between King and Cameron streets, and fronting on Washington and Columbus streets, 107 feet, with a public alley on one side, and an open space that cannot be built on on the other. For a pub? lic situation it is unequalled by any property in Alexandria.

A LOT OF GROUND, at the west end, about half a mile from town and fronting on the Livde River Turapike Road, 85 leet, running back 250 feet, more or less. There are improvements on the property adjoining it, lows between Alexandria and Petersburg in I on each side.

A handsome LOT OF GROUND, on the George-Town road, about half a mile from o'clock in the evening, and arrive at Dumfries town, in a very beautiful situation, containing by 5 in the morning—Leave Dumfries at 6 wo acres.

Washington and Columbus streets, within one quarter of a mile of town, well enclosed 6 Leave Richmond at 6 1-2 and arrive at with a post and rail fence, containing some

the same distance as the last mentioned. ALSO,

My interest in the lease of a FARM, containing between one and two hundred acres, adjoining the town of Alexandria, in a high state of cultivation, and enclosed with a new post and rail fence, (in one oi the enclosures is the Alexandria Jockey Club Race Course with a large crop of OATS and HAY, which will be sold in the stack or otherwise; --two waggons, four carts, eight ploughs, two double barrows, a large and elegant roller, all of the best construction, six good farm horses, and every other article that can be wanted for a well managed farm, together with 12 choice milch COWS, a fine buffaloe BULL, forty head of SHEEP, about fifty head of HOGS of the very best breed that could be procured. Also, some very VALUABLE SLAVES, if they should be wanted for the farm.

ALSO, The two lines of STAGES between George Town and Alexandria, with a light HACK & four HORSES.

NOTICE.

All persons having claims against me are requested to bring them forward for settlement; and all persons indebted are desired to make immediate payment, as no longer indulgence can be given, my intended removed rendering it necessary that a full adjust ment of all accounts should take place.

PRIVATE CORRESPONDENCE,

OF THE REGISTER.

LIVERPOOL, JULY 4, 1808.—Within the last ten days various reports have been in circulation relative to Spain, but none of them appeared (until this day) sufficiently authentic to authorize our communications on the subjest. However, our government have now received official dispatches from major-general Spencer, Cated off Cadiz, 6th ult. In addition to this, reports from various ports of Spain and Portugal, also state, that an engagement had lately taken place near Madrid, between the Spanish patriots and French army, in which the latter was completely defeated with the less of 12,000 men. Should the Spanish patriots continue their operations as successfully as they have commenced, the commercial as well as political affairs of Europe, will no doubt wear a very altered aspect in a few months; it has, however, as yet occasioned no material change in our market.

" COTTON .- The cottons by the Leeward Island fleet are now chiefly landed, in which we find the proportion of common West India descriptions very trifling; the cotton market generally seems now pretty steady, and as the longer continuance of the American embargo is highly probable, we calculate upon an improvement, particularly in old and new Boweds, as we cannot expect by our next arrivals from the Brazils, any sorts that can be with propriety substituted for them: we estimate the sales since the 25th ultimo at 6000 bags, principally consisting of those lately arrived by the fleet, which have gone off with spirit at 1.2d per lb above our last quotations, but there has nothing of conrequence been done in American cottons during the last week. New and prime upland may now be quoted as 21d a 22d; New-Orleans 21d a 23 1-2d; Tennessee 18 a 20d; Sea Island 28 2d a 2s 10d, stained, ditto 16d a 21d per lb.

" GRAIN, Ge. The prospect of a very abundant harvest in every quarter of this kingdens, has rather alarmed the holders of his, of the Porte, and Persia, to allow him American Wheat, and many of them would to syle himself emperor of the cast? This now willingly accept of 13s. per 70 lbs. for you offered him; but, carried away by what they hold; even at this, few if any buy- thur own depraved will, and mistaken imers can be found; added to this, supplies have juse, you will certainly bear no equal, and already actually arrived from Quebec, and word an applied destroy him; a necessary consedaily look for further considerable arrivals to quence of an ambition without bound, but pectations should be ilviscontinue in the bay how; what do you mean to do in present unsettled state, we think it probable. present unsettled state, we think it probable, that higher than the following quotations may possibly be obtained; for New-York Wheat 12s 9d a 133; Quebec; 12s a 12s 6d? Irish tls 6d a 12s per 70 lbs .- RICE continues without variation.

"DYEWQODS .- In Legwood we have no alteration to notice; the stocks of it are considerable, and we expect extensive supplies by the next fleets which must cause a depression in value. There has been a very brisk speculative demand for Fustic; Cuba is uncommonly scarce, and the holders now ask 251 a 281, which they will obtain in a few weeks, or possibly higher.

ASHES -It is now pretty accurately as certained that the supplies of Ashes from Quebec and Montreal will prove very extensive the ensuing season; the speculations therefore in the article have totally subsided and a declension in prices have consequently taken place of from 3s. a 4s per cwt: say for 1st quality, Pots 90s and 92s, and for Pearls 78 to 80s per cwt-these prices ar yet comparatively high, and would pay the shipper handsomely

" NAVAL STORES .- Tar and turpertime have been in regular demend during last month; a public sale of the latter took pice on the 28th uit; it went off briskly at 24s and 40s per cwt. and the holders look ferrard with confidence to obtaining higher, which may possibly be realized, as the prinipal stocks of both these articles have got into a few hands; the dealers and consumers, lowever, buy sparingly at these exhorbitantprices, and should there be a prospect of upplies soon coming forward, they cannt be calculated upon with any degree of certinty.

" TOBACCO.—By the arrival of the last American Packet we have received no iltelligence on which to ground an opinion relative to the removal of the embargo; but welearn from Mr. Canning's recent speech h the house of commons, that the negociatios now pending between the two countries are intirely contingent upon those with France and the United States; and further, that no efficial communications have been received by this government since the arrival of Mr. Rose-There has consequently been very extensive speculations in tobaceo, as well as most other articles of American produce, and it has experienced an enhancement of from 2 1-2 to 3d per lb. above our quotations of 3d of June, and few holders evince a diposition to make virtue of no law, either try or punish. All sales even at this advance.

" PREMIUMS of insurance to the United States, per American ships, can now be readily effected at 3 to 4 guineas per cent; and to New Orleans, per do. 5 guineas per cent."

Printing in its various branches executed with accuracy and dispatch.

FOREIGN.

Selections from Sibraltar papers to the 2d Juy, continued. Supplement to the Valencia Diary, of the 6th of Gune, 1808.

Napoleon! the veil, which concealed your criminal periody, has been removed; the mystery, in which was wrapped up your gigartic hypecrisy, has been laid open. It is now as clear as the day, that your hypocritial and wretched ambition knows no boulds, and tramples upon all laws. This ambition is the spring of your never ceasing intigue; that it is that prompts you to lie; youlie to deceive; deceive to command; command to plunder; plunder to reign; and rein to exterminate. Such has been your conduct in Kome, Naples, Germany, Prussi, Italy, Liruria, Holland, Portugal, and Spin. Wait a moment, answer say: this tine, at least, speak the truth against your atural propensity: if you should succeed i plundering and subduing Spain; if you would reign over, either in person, or through some one who must be like you, if hemeets with your approbation; if you should relieve the country people from the burens which you so greatly enaggerate; if yu should conquer; if, as you promised, yo should drag from their native land, 2000 Lions, who would be doomed to die whele their bodies would even be left unburied-is it not true that you intend to employ their strength and valor in annihilating the louse of Austria, to which you design elequies similar to those of the house of Burton? Is it not true, that such as you daw from Austria, you intend to use as istruments to extend your tyrannic sway wer the circles of Germany, taking away lese very crowns that you gave? Do you pt intend next to appoint yourself emperor d the west? and, after assisting the Rushan autocrat in completing the ruin of Prus-

Splin! Spain, her fate! Spain, our constant ally, and, for your entered enemy of England; who, by her treasures, her maction and friendship, has paved the way for the victories of Marengo, Austerlitz, Jena, and Eylau; who is, at this moment, shedding her blood in Sweden merely to please you, and who has ever been rendy to humor your whims and caprices; what recompence, what return, what ackrowledgment is she to expect from your vaunted generosity? You have said, thousand times, that you bear her an unlimited good will; that you are her faithful ally; that you will, in the end, reward her services; that she is fally entitled to your powerful protection: Happy Spain, with such and so great a protector! a protector sent from Heaven to promote her prosperity: in order to make her happy, you have sent your troops into her provinces; and the whole of her royal family, and many of her grandees, you have drawn to Bayonne, for the purpose of teaching them the laws of the French code, to read them certain necessary lectures on the art of reigning. Is not this true !- Mapoleon! either oraw the curtain of the stage on which you are acting, or your Comedy will end in a Tragedy. You have taken into your head, that all the Spaniards are either as easy to be deceived as Charles and Ferdinand, or as ready as the Prince of Pcace to be accomplices in your treacherous plots against their country. You fancy that Spain is struck with awe at the sight of the phantom of your imaginary power, and terrified at hearing the sacrilegious rhodomontades of your fawning partisans; and you trust, that believing, like Charles, Ferdinand, and the other members of the royal family whom you have called and enticed to Bayonne, in the reality of the specious happiness which you hold out, she will refer to you the appointment of the man who is to reign over her, or, like Italy, will entreat you to be her king. This is the course which their princes have pursued, taking you for their umpire, to settle, in an amicable manner, differences which you yourself had stirred up, and the criminality of which (a criminality which does not exist) you could, by this you believe; but you are deceived. It is true that Spain, thanks to your friendship, has dwindled into a skeleton; it is true that an inconsiderable number of the wretched followers of that traitor, whose iniquity could only be patronized by yours, may perhaps think with their leader; and it is also true, that, up to this moment, a great many Spaniards believed Napoleon to be an honest man, open-hearted, and a true friend. hear, hear what the whole nation is, an sent, aware of; what she knows, he and expects from you. There is h opinion : hear!

Spain is aware, that every word you und is a talschood: that you deceive who ever you deal with; that your thirst of his is unquenchable; and that you are the wicked king who sent over the mistral locusts which are the types of the hem whom St John sew, and who "hath his nan Apollyon," which means Exterminator, is aware, that you are, in the hands of Con a scoruge brought from hell for the punit ment of this world; that you want Sp drink out of the cup of bitterness which have forced upon the nations which boast you have rendered free and have and that whatever you trank, say, or we consonant with your low borth, want or ligious principles, and criminal conduct Now, hear what she knows;

Spain knows, that, although you land cloaked your intentions under the false me tences, you have sent your soldiers to sal due, sack, and plunder her. She know that whatever your emissaries wanted in say, tended to persuade her to love you, at hate the Bourbons. She knows that it letters, resignation and protests of Charles as well as of Ferdiaund, have been examined from them, and drawn up by you loth purpose of imposing upon the world it even if legitimate they would be nothing void, because involuntary; that your de. crees are invalid; and that all these instruments are dictated by your ambition or violence. She knows, that while you relieve the husbandman from the duties he paid to his lord, as you had promised him, youer. act in lieu of them, one third of whatever he reaps. She knows, that there are father in France who have not one son out of seven, and widows who will never cast an eye upon any of the five with whom they were blessed. She knows that if you reign over Spain for thers will, perhaps, never see in their life. times, such of their sons as are from 16 to 40 years old; nor need we say, perhaps, as they are not to see them while the war last and this will last as long as you live. And lastly she knows, that the religion which she professes, will be suppressed in Spain, and every other country you have or mized; that its ministers will be removed; its towples profesed and rased to the ground; ements and rents plundered : itsime ges destroyed; no property ofixed upon; and in short, that you will take the whole for yourself. This she knows; see what she believes:

Spain believes, that you are the enemy of all Europe; that, wherever you have se foot, you have ruined both commerce, agriculture, arts, and religion; that, if you as cend the throne, you will send to foreign countries 300,000 Spaniards, and all ler riches, leaving her but her eyes to weep the same miseries, calamities, and distress, which other powers lament, though you so loudly assert them to be happy. Shebe lieves that you have raised the differences subsisting between Charles and Ferdinad availing yourself of the want of knowledge of the former, of the goodness of the latter, and of the treacherous dispositions of the prince of peace, who was to present you with Madrid, Toledo, Seville, and the other towne of Spain, as if they had been his own property. She believes, that you have drawn the whole house of Bourbon to Bayonne, to make away with all its members. In short, she believes that Anti-Christ alone, whose precurser you are, can exceed you in wickedness and perfidy. This she believes; see now what she hopes for:

From you, Spain expects nothing, for you have nothing to rive ber. But she hopes, that her sons united will baffle your infernal attempts and military talents; that the will rather lese their lives for the defence of their country, of their religion, and of whit they possess in their native land, than to leave the latter, to be conducted by you a regions where, when dead, their bodies will Be left unburied. She hopes never to be governed by one of such low extraction & yours; she hopes to conquer that monster of iniquity, NAPOLEON, and to rescue hit enslaved and plundered powers of Europe; in short, she hopes for your disastrous end which cannot be any other than that of Ne buchadnezzar, Sapor, and those who is tened, with satisfaction and pride, to the epithets of all powerful and irresistible which your foolish, vile, and impious and terers lavish upon you. She relies upon the power of her God, who brought to light and defeated your infamous views on the 19th of March, much more than upon her own strength. She hopes that his Divine Majesty will give you neither leave not power to destroy, although he may suffer you to annoy, for a few months, those who have received the mark of Goo, namely, the Spaniards who profess the Christian

And lastly, she hopes to strip you of whatever God, the church, and Surope, have been robbed of by you; she to punish you as you deserve, to rid the world of a tyranical usurper, of a perrecurring heretic, of a son of sin, of a perwho in short, of the enemy of God, of the dierch, and of all mankind.

Now, there remains only to know what ou expect from Spain. Do you expect hat she will proclaim you king? She will ot because she witnesses the evils which uch a step has bro't upon Italy. Do you expect, that she will apply for your brother Joseph! Neither will she do it, because she does not chose to submit to the melancholy fac of Naples; and besides, she can love no other than Ferdinand, to whom she has sworn allegiance as the successor of Charles. Do you hope to find many friends in Spain? Do not believe it, for she knows how shamefally you have treated Moreau, Pichegru, Villeneuve who had served you most faithfully, and contributed, above all others, to your preferment, or usurpation of the throne. Do you flatter yourself, that Spain will conless that she has been conquered, and that this conquest cost you but 25 men, whileshe lost 3,000 Spaniards? Do not expect it; be sure, that Spain will tell nothing but the Spain says, that the castles of which you boast in your newspapers that you have made yourself master, were delivered up to you by order of your friend, the prince of peace; that the same has taken place with respect to the towns; and that in the only rial to which the lower classes of the inhabitants of Madrid put the bravery of your troops, they with no other arms than knives, dispatched 5,000 soldiers, their own loss carcely amounting to 200 men. This is the truth, which has never reached your editors.-Do you in short hope really to Thieve the conquest of Spain? Well, know theif you do, you may lose a great deal, but never will gain a single heart. But what is conquest? Hope not; no, do not hope to conquer her; rather expect the punishmen due to the most scendalous wickelness that the world has ever witnessed.— Expect those misfortunes to befall you denounced to Eugland for her conduct in Denmark; nav, expect worse than that, for you have been guilty of a far more honious crime. Expect to be abandoned and opposed by your own troops: expect to be attacked by the nations which abhor you, (and this description includes them all) when they see you so unjustly and obstinately bent against pain. Expect that the lion mentioned in Esdras, that prince who is to be twice a king in the opinion of St. Isidorus; that stout iton of the celebrated Rocacelda, who is, after his death, to return to life again, and is Spain herself, will conquer you, put an end to your empire, and extend her own, by means of her crusaders, to the fatherest extremities of the earth. Fear, then, Napoleon, for it will scon be all over with you; fear Spain, but not so much her valor as your enormities. Fear the God who protects her, and in whom she trusts. There is no doubt but he, who with a handful of Hebrews, routed an army of Philistines, so numerous that it was compared to the sand of the sea! He, who in the same manner destroved that of Xerxes, consisting of five millions foot and one hundred theusand horse, will send, as he used to do, Angels who shall fight in the ranks of the Spaniards, especially in a war like this, in which the honor of his religion is concerned: and that no vestige will remain of your wretched army, which marches through compulsion, and is a prey to want.

NEW-YORK, August 27.

By the brig Neptune, Garland, 23 days from Port Spain, Trinidad, we have received the Trinidad Courant of the 30th July, om which the following article is copied:

TRINIDAD, July 30. By a lanche which arrived yesterday erecing from New Barcelona we learn, that a French national brig (no doubt one of the expresses mentioned in Lord Collingwood's dispatches) had arrived at La guira with a number of officers on board, civil and military, bearing orders from Bonaparte, sanctoned by the king his prisoner, to supercede the present administration of government. and establish the reign of the new dynasty in that province. The dispatches had been forwarded to Carracas, but the chiefs of that province, men of sound judgment and approved fidelity having been previously put in possession of the Bando of the Supreme Junta of Seville, dated 28th of May (which had been forwarded by this government), weighing well in the scale of pru-

She hopes, that, armed with the | dence the danger of precipitation, in a mat ter of so much importance to the state had called a general assembly of the heads of department, to deliberate on the steps to be taken in so difficult an emergency. The council had accordingly assembled and were sitting when the Acasta's dispatches arriva ed to confirm their opinion in the resistance which, it seems it was their determination to oppose to the attempts of the usurper.

They were read with acclamation by the Junta, the cries of Viva el Rei, vivo nuestro Catholico Monarco, Fernando Septimo, y su magnanime aliado el Rey de la Gran Bretana, resounded in the Casa Capitular, and where soon re-echoed by the whole city—and the imperious officers of his imperial majesty, were committed to durance vile, in the Cazamettes of La Guira, and his imperial brig made a prize of, and sent to Forto Cavello.

The colours of the two nations were soon displayed on the forts at La Guira, under a general discharge of all the heavy artillery. The Acasta, at anchor in the road, repeated the signals and tokens of alliance and festivity, and the officers who landed were received and treated with the greatest marks of respect and attention-huzza! huzza! huzza!

PHILADELPHIA, August 25. Yesterday arrived, British ship Louisa Church, from Londonderry. Left there June 28th. ship Elizabeth, of New-York, a few days arrived; and British ship Truro, for Philadelphia with passengers, had fallen down the river and expected to sail soon. TUESDAY, AUGUST 30.

We have had the pleasure of seeing a letter from Favetteville, North Carolina, under date of the 19th, which affords us no little pleasure. At that date the writer had heard of the election of THREE federalists to congress, and many to the state legislature.

In the Fayette le district, so rapidly has the cause of federalism progressed, that no democratic candidate offered. It is at present represented by Mr. Culpepper; butMr. M'Bride, a decided federalist, and a man of respectable talents, is chosen to succeed him. In Favetteville electorial district, John Winslow, esq. is a candidate for elector of president and vice-president. There is no doubt of Mr. Winslow's success, and as little that he will vote for the hero and the sage, general Pinckney as president. There will certainly be four other electors of the Washington school from North Carolina. (Wash. Fed.)

The British parliament have voted thirty ix thousand pounds to general Martin, for losses sustained by him in Virginia, as the representative of Lord Fairfax.

Extract of a letter from a Gentleman at Gibralter to his correspondent in New York dated July 5. "We have now received official accounts of the complete success of the Spaniards in several severe engagements fought at Saragossa and Valadolid all of which have redounded to the honor of the Spanish arms. I am uninformed of the loss on either side, but it said to be great. Two French generais arrived here this day, taken prisoners in Algirves, Portugal, and brought here by the lortugueze. They will be sent immediately to England. All Portugal is in arms determined to resist the encroachmens of the French.

"The ship Rising Sun, Parsons, will sail from Cadiz for the United States in 10 or 12 dars."

NEWS FROM SPAIN.

On Sunday the 21 inst. arrived at Boston the bry Mercury, capt. Bradford from Alicant ad Gibraltar. She sailed from the former place on the 29th of June-only 9 days susequent to our accounts from Cadiz; and the cities are at a considerable distance from each other. She left Gibraltar on the 1th of July, where she remained out a shor time, on account of apprehensions that it was possible she might be detained, as she was without her regular papers, and the first jessel from a Spanish port with a cargo tha had put in there since the orders of council

By captin Bradford's information, it appears, that the hatred of the Spaniards for the Frence, has never been exceeded even among naions that were natural enemies. The French consul at Malaga, and several merchants were said to have been put to death. At Alicant, every person born in France was imprisoned, Some who were confined had resided 30 or 40 years in Spain. The patriots had heard that Napoleon had appointed them a King in his brother Joseph.

All classes of Spaniards were enthusiastic in their determination to resist the French. The instances of suspicion that persons were in the Gallic interest, were rare. At Valentia one person had been beheaded. At Malaga, a few persons had been arrested. but, upon examination, there appeared no reason to doubt their patriotism, and they were liberated. The person at the head of the province of Valencia, was a gentleman of great distinction and property: and several persons at Alicant denominated noblemen, had volunteered in the ranks to serve against their treacherous enemy-one of these persons was the gentleman who owned the American Consul's house.

Most of the Frenchmen at Alicant, who were arrested on account of the indignation against the raler of the country which gave them birth, were loud and decisive against the conduct of Napoleon towards his faithful ally.

At the commencement of the revolution, Valencia established a local Junta; which has since leclared that it will receive and execute the commands of the Junta of Se-

In proportion to the enmity of the Spanards towards the French, was their attachment to the British-When a British government brig arrived at Valencia with supplies, the populace carried her commander on their shoulders to the town house, where the council was convened.

The islands of Majorca and Minorea had sent the patrio's reinforcements, and arms and ammunition.

The Carthagena squadron remained at Minorca. None of the French fleets were known to be at sea.

The account of the defeat of the French army, under general Dupont, in its way from Madrid to Seville, is confirmed. It is said 5000 Frenchmen were killed.

The news of the capture of the French fleet at Cadiz by the Spanish patriots, is confirmed, and it was asserted, there were found on board of them a large amount of money, and great quantities of muskets, cartriges, balls, powder, &c.

It was said there were at Madrid, and in is neighborhood, about 50,000, French troops under the duke of Berg. Several skirmishes had taken place. In Catalonia there were said to be about 25,000. Desertions were very frequent; and to prevent this at Barcelona, about 1000 selected troops had been stationed round the city. These the revolutionists contrived to surprise, and they were all cut to pieces.

We cannot learn that any fresh troops from France had entered Spain in June. All American vessels, which had been detained at Alicant and Malaga had been released by the Spaniards; but it was reported this measure had not yet been established at Algesiras. The Mercury was one of detained vessels; having been seized many months since by the French.

A formidable insurrection was reported to have broken out at Naples.

Two Algerine cruizers had put into Alicant. A good understanding exists with the United States. The war continues between Algiers and Tunis.

At Gibraltar, captain B. learnt, that the Portuguese had conquered the French in their country; and that at the last accounts from Lisbon, they were firing upon the Russian squadron to compel it to surrender. It is very probable many of the French had taken refuge on board these ships.

British troops had been sent into St. Lu-

A Valencia paper of the 21st June, states, under the head of Madrid, June 15," that the Russian minister had left Madrid; that the emperor Alexander was displeased with the conduct of Napoleon, who had violated one of the articles of the Tilsit treatythat the archduke Charles was to marry a Russian princess, and a war between France, Russia and Austria was expected.

A Valencia paper of June 21, mentions the defeat of the French under Dupont. (Bos. Pal.)

We shall derive some benefits from the Embargo. It will convince our Farmers, of what the Democrats strove to deny, that commerce is beneficial to Agriculture, as well as Agriculture is to Commerce; that Seaports, as commercial Depots, are deserving of protection; that Merchants, as a medium between the Farmer and the foreign consumer of our produce, are a useful class of citizens, and are entitled to influence and respect equally with any of the other classes; that if we wish to flourish, we must as much strive to be able to control events on the ocean, as on the land; that treaties which secure or extend our commerce, without entangling us, are national benefits; that as unreasonable jealousy and prejudice, or partiality, may endanger our peace, they ought to be discarded in the management of our foreign relations.

STOMACHIO BLIXIR OF HEALTH

WHICH has proved by experience, to be the most valuable medicine ever het offered to the public for curing the Gout, Cramp, and wind in the stomach; also a certain cure for the Dysentary. or Bloody Flux. Cholera Morbus, severe gripings, and all other diseases of the bowels, a dose never fails to remove a cold if taken soon after its first appearance. It is also celebrated for carrying off superfluous bile, removing habitual costiveness, sickness at the stomach, severe head ache, &c.&c. The following certificates are selected from the many respectable ones lately received by the propietor, and are now in his possession.

CERTIFICATE.

Of Mr. William Julion, carpenter and builder, No. 60, south Fifth street, Philadelphia. Sin-My wishes to promote the interest of superior merit, and to afford consolation to the afflicted induces me to request you will lay my case pefore the public, as an incontestible proof of the astonishing efficacy of Dr. Robertson's invaluable Stomachic Elixir of Health.

I do hereby certify that I was seized most violently with the dysentery, or bloody flux, which reduced me so much that I was confined to my bed, and became so weak that I could not move without assistance. My situation at that time become so seriously alarming, as no relief could be obtained, I was given over, and even death would have been desirable to me, had not a friend of mine, who by chance called to see me, who had just recovered from a similar complaint, though not so severe as mine. He informed me that he was cured by taking Dr. Robertson's Stomachie Elixir of Health, and advised me to send to you for a bottle. I immediately did so, and by following your instructions given with the bottle, I found myself much relieved, and my disorder greatly abated, and by continuing to take it, in one week I was able to walk out, and in less than a fortnight was able to attend to my business.

I therefore recommend every family to be provided with this invaluable medicine, particularly those who live at a distance in the country where assistance cannot be immediately obtained. As I am convinced that Dr. Robertson's Stomachic Elixir of Health, is the most effectual remedy in the world, have since recommended it to server who have always been relieved immediately after taking it. Should any person wish to be more fully convinced of my case, I will with pleasure explain it to them by applying to me.

I am, with a due sense of the benefit I have received, through the efficacy of your medi-

CERTIFICATE. Of Mr. John T. Solomon, Sixth near Race street, Philadelphia.

Sin -For the good of the public and benelit of the afflicted, I think proper to inform you than having labored for upwards of six months, under a very bad cough, attended with difficulty of breathing, pains in my breast and side and a sickness at my stomach; having lost all appetite, I became so very much reduced in my strength as to be unable to walk. I was considered in a consumption, and given up for a lost man. In this hopeless situation I had recourse to Dr. Robertson's Stomachic Elixir of Health, and to my great astonishment before I had taken one bottle, found myself very much relieved. I expectorated a great quantity of phlegm, which has eased me of one of the most violent coughs thatever a mun had; I have taken it regularly ever since, and now find myself completely recovered, and shall certainly, for the benefit received, recommend it as far as I can, believing it to be a most efficacious medicine in the above complaint.

I am, sir, With real respect, Your obliged humble servant, JOHN T. SOLOMON.

MR. T. DYOTT. August 22.

CERTIFICATE Of Mr. Peter Denham, No. 278, south Second street, Philadelphia.

DEAR SIR, It is with the utmost satisfaction I inform you of the cure effected by your truly invaluable Stomachic Elixir of Health, as the whole of my family, including myself being six in number, were violently affected with the influenza, attended with very bad coughs, pains in the limbs, and difficulty of breathing, which continued to increase. I applied to a physician, but his medicines had no effect. Just at that time, having heard of the cures made by Dr. Robertson's Stomachic Elixir of Health I determined to try a bottle of it; I did, and its effects exceeded my expectations. The first two or three doses caused me to expectorate a vast quantity of tough vicid phlegm, and so speedily removed every symptom of the cold, that by the time we had taken three bottles we were all perfectly oured, exceping weakness that remained, for which I have administered Dr. Robertson's Patent Wine Hitters, and I have found them wonderfully efficacious in strengthening the system, and destroying of worms, as two of my children have voided a vast quantity by taking them, and are now growing strong and healthy. have since recommended the above medicines to a number of my friends, who have been immediately relieved by taking them.

It is my desire that you publish this case of my family for the benefit of the public, and those who may be afflicted. Any person desirous of further information, may have every satisfaction, by applying citler by letter or personally to me.

I am, sir,

Your obliged humble servant, PETER DENHAM.

PROSPECTUS

WEEKLY PUBLICATION, TO BE ENTITLED THE RELIGIOUS REPOSITORY. BY W. A. RIND, Georgetown, Dist. of Columbia. THE Editor begs leave to offer this Work to the attention and patronage of the Methodist Society in particular, not only because it is thought proper to give it a decided character, but because the Connexion at present scribers are obtained to justify the Editor have no religious vehicle of the kind, nor have they had since the discontinuance of their Magazine, which was published some fy, that we know William A. Rind to be a years ago.

Both the Presbyterians and Episcopalians have under their patronage monthly publications devoted to the same subjects proposed to be embraced by this work.

The Editor, however, flatters himself that this publication will possess some advantages over those that are only issued monthly, in furnishing earlier religious intelligence, and he hopes it will afford greater satisfaction to Readers in general, as in such works the same subjects and accounts are continued in a series of numbers.

But since this work is to be devoted to the interest of religion, both in its doctrine and experience, and will likewise include the subject of morality, we think it entitled to the greater attention; and we wish it to be dis- by the subscribers; the same business will be tinctly understood, that as it has for its object the diffusion of religious information, the subject of Politics will not be introduced

In the screipture sense of the term, Reli GION embraces not only what we are to believe, but more especially what we must experience of its great truths in our hearts -Morality implies not only that men should do no harm, but that they should be actively and zealously engaged in acts of benevolence and works of righteousness. It would then appear that Religion consists in what we believe and experience, and Morality in that Faith and Experience reduced into practice True Religion and Morality go hand in hand, and mutually support each other: Where there is not Morality, there cannot be Religion, and we are disposed to think likewise that there cannot be genuine Morality without Religion. Instead then of drawing our ideas of Morality from principles founded on natural right, let us look to a higher sourceto Religion—and to that Religion taught by var Lord Jeans Christ. RELIGION alone has power to persuade with colority, because it excites passion while it informs the understanding-because it alone has the means of rendering obvious what it recommends-because it speaks in the Name of Gon, and it is easy to inspire respect for him whose power is every where evident to the eyes of the simple and discerning-to the eyes of children and men of mature understanding.

It will be expected that the religious part of the Community in particular will patronize a publication of this kind. It claims the attention and support of religious denominations of all descriptions, not only as subscribers, but as contributors of Essays and Communications on the subjects it proposes to embrace. Almost every political publication has met with generous patronage-and to such, religious characters have not failed to contribute their part. But while they have thus aided in diffusing political information, they will not surely reflect on their profession, by withholding from this their influence and sup-

But we think this work forcibly recom mends itself to the attention of the enlightened Politician. That man does not deserve the name of Politician, who is unconscious of the influence of Religion and Morality upon the good government and happiness of society. Weak, indeed, are the restraints of human laws, and honor, unaided by the obligations and precepts of Religion, upon the ambition and avarice of wicke men. Without the influence of Religion, these passions may be expected to triumph over the law and every principle of justice.

The " Religious Repository" will be a collection of original and well selected pieces on Religion and Morality, and will serve likewise to record the revivals of Religion, particularly at Camp-Meetings, and also to preserve a short account of the Lives Sayings, and Deaths, of eminently pious Charactersand thus shall we " gather up the fragments, and nothing will be lost."

In addition it will contain select and original pieces of Natural History, together with. instructive and pleasing Anecdotes.

The Editor has already engaged the assistance of his religious friends, as well of the Ministry as others; and he particularly requests the Travelling and Local Preachers of the Connexion to forward to him, from time to time, such Communications as may be embraced within the general objects of the work.
